

PST Exemptions and Documentation Requirements

Provincial Sales Tax Act

Latest Revision: The revision bar (|) identifies changes to the previous version of this bulletin dated February 2019. For a summary of the changes, see Latest Revision at the end of this document.

This bulletin provides an overview of the PST exemptions contained in the Provincial Sales Tax Act (the Act) and the Provincial Sales Tax Exemption and Refund Regulation (the Regulation).

This bulletin also provides details on the information and documentation collectors must obtain at or before the time of sale or lease in order to provide the exemption at the time of the sale or lease. Collectors are sellers and lessors registered, or required to be registered, to collect and remit PST.

Note: The list of exemptions in this bulletin is not exhaustive and may not include all conditions or limitations of the exemptions. Further details on specific exemptions, including documentation requirements, are provided in the applicable bulletin listed for that exemption.

Supporting Documentation

For many exemptions, the collector is not required to obtain any information or documentation from their customer before providing the exemption.

However, a number of exemptions require that the collector obtain specific information or documentation at or before the time of a sale or lease in order to provide the exemption at the time of the sale or lease. If the required information or documentation is not provided at or before the time of the sale or lease, the collector must charge and collect, and the customer must pay, PST on that sale or lease. If the customer later provides the required information or documentation, they may be eligible for a refund or credit of the PST from the collector, or for a refund from us. For more information on refunds and credits, see Bulletin PST 400, PST Refunds.

Records of Collectors

Exemptions Requiring Documentation From Customers

If a specific exemption requires information or documentation as outlined in the tables below, the collector must keep a copy of the information or documentation to show why they did not collect PST.

For example, to claim an exemption on a purchase of goods for resale, the customer must provide the collector with their PST number or, if they do not have a PST number, a completed exemption certificate.

If the collector obtains the customer’s PST number, the collector is required to record the PST number on the bill, invoice or receipt (if they issue one). If the collector has entered into a written agreement with their customer for the purchase or lease of the exempt items, the collector must record the customer’s PST number on the written agreement. The collector must keep this documentation as part of their records.

If the customer provides an exemption certificate, the completed certificate must be kept by the collector to show why they did not collect PST.

In some cases the collector may make future tax-exempt sales and leases to a customer on the basis of a completed exemption certificate, provided the information on the certificate is still correct and the collector is able to link the exempt sale to a specific exemption certificate. The customer is required to complete a new exemption certificate if any information provided in the certificate has changed since the certificate was originally completed.

Note: If the customer claims an exemption with the required documentation and it is later found that they did not qualify for the exemption, the customer is liable for any tax, interest and penalties associated with the purchase or lease. However, if the collector had reason to believe their customer was not entitled to the exemption and provided the exemption, the collector may also be subject to an assessment.

Exemptions Not Requiring Documentation From Customers

For exemptions that do not require the collector to obtain documentation from customers but require certain criteria be met to qualify for the exemption, the collector must keep records to show the criteria were met. For example, goods shipped by a collector for delivery outside of BC are exempt. Documentation is not required to be obtained from the customer; however, the collector must keep records showing the goods were delivered outside BC (e.g. bills of lading, shipping documents).

Alternatives to Exemption Certificates

As an alternative to using the exemption certificates listed below, alternative certifications may be used, provided all the required information and the declaration statement from the applicable exemption certificate is included.

Providing the required information and the declaration statement in an electronic format is acceptable if the format includes an electronic signature. An electronic signature may include an electronic acceptance or agreement of the declaration statement, or a statement indicating that transmitting the information and declaration electronically by the purchaser or lessee is agreement of the declaration.

Latest Revision

April 2019

- Clarified that a purchaser must pay PST on a sale or lease if the information or documentation required for an exemption is not provided at the time of the sale or lease
 - Effective April 1, 2019, electricity is fully exempt from PST for all purchasers. Therefore, the bulletin was revised to:
 - add an exemption for electricity
 - remove specific references to electricity being exempt only in certain circumstances or for certain purchasers
 - Other minor revisions
